power world must get to order to lead systems that are actually not political. The new political system in the 2009 election was introduced because of the 2009 concerning political parties Law No. 20 of 2008. Both laws state that political parties must increase women's participation. The new political parties must manage centrally as a whole the political party and the candidate. The application of the political party system that at least one woman must be included in the political party. This is a strategy that women candidates placed small serial numbers to increase their electability. The success of the struggle was seen in the Constitutional Court Decision No.

- 24/ UU/ 08 Regarding the Law of the 45 Constitutional which the political party system with the determination of the candidate based most on the number of men's through the system's validity. sequence of the electability. In this way to a two representation of the legislature. However, the number of men in the institution (WRI, 10), actually women representation of women in several districts cities increased. same true in the R - RI.

The number of women members of DP - RI in the 2009 - 2014 has the number of DP - RI in previous which only reached 18% (1 person out of 5 DP - RI). This shows the highest number of women in the parliament. During the Order in the political uniformity in that of uniform politics had built during the Order to give representation name of political party which red rules representation in political system, women experience marginalization. Political parties pay attention to the aspiration of women, there is just the political party in election and candidate has the representative of the region, the is Si Lu Nyoma Serial, IJCMS, 2019; Vol 5 (A): 10 - 10. 1045 left. This indicates that women's position in political world is very wide. that, though the political system has the and political awareness of women changed.

The picture of women in politics in Indonesia shows a low level of participation, though the political party, and political parties and other political parties the low quality of women participation in politics in name in executive ranks. wisat echelon level, of women occupation by the fact there are as yet in as were men held positions as leaders, were very few. In organization the important institution (LPM) Bali, is and many women become endesa Adat Bendakra (head of people). This also the mental organization such as clubs (sekuna).

such as is to find women becoming members of chairs or deputy chairs. on this, consider a perspective involving women - making the basis of a democratic lead equality. Women in Parliament during the decade has a significant increase in the role of women. on the other hand do not have confidence in voters are skeptical about. On the other hand, political parties have not provided education in gender. As a result the position of women in political parties still marginal. to give representation should be with commitment. Political party cadres. In fact, most women are open to political actualization and the role of women is decisive in political party.
