Reviewer- A

Decision: Major revisions required

This article covers a very important topic and with some revisions, it can certainly be published. A few things stand out:

- a. Please restructure the abstract to reflect 1) purpose, 2) focus, 3) methods, and 4) results of the study in the sequence.
- b. There is a lack of the most recent citation from peer-reviewed journals in the paper from (2017 to 2021) in the introduction, Literature Review, and Discussion sections. APA requires the most recent references for academic work. The introduction needs to justify and articulate the focus and questions of this study from the relevant scholarship, policy, and practice perspectives using relevant literature as support.
- c. You need to develop research questions at the end of the introduction in alignment with the study focus. Much of the literature review should be revised and incorporated into the introduction section. To enhance the justification and articulation of the focus and questions there as suggested.
- d. Also, I believe that more academic literature on this topic should be utilized. You use academic literature throughout, particularly when discussing methods. There are some strong opinions expressed and also parts where there are stats but no citations. Be sure to check citations and include them where necessary. It is obvious that research has been done but I believe this could use a second look.
- e. The section, Methodology, needs to be restructured and revised in the following ways. 1) Explain the participants and contexts of the study in the section, including why they were selected based on the needs of this study. 2) Place the section, Data Collection, after the participant and context section. In the section, you need to explain what data are collected using what instrument, why the data are helpful for the needs of instruction development, how your theoretical framework is used to guide the data collection, and any limitations of this study. For example, how did you recruit the participants, whether they meet the needs of this study, any bias in the participant recruitment, and how well they can represent the intended population of this study. 3) Place the data analysis and instrument development after the data collection. In this section, you need to describe the processes of instrument development, justify each process and articulate it based on the relevant theoretical framework that you developed and research methodology literature.
- f. Please develop a discussion section before the conclusion section. In the section, it is necessary to discuss: 1) The significant results of the study, 2) how these results contribute to the current empirical understanding shown in the literature review section as suggested earlier. 3) How the results confirm, extend, and challenge the relevant theoretical conceptions shown in the theoretical framework section as suggested earlier. 4) Propose the relevant future research based on the discussion and relevant limitations of the study.
- g. I believe more in-depth information could be gleaned from the findings presented. It is important to make sure that the claims made in the indicative introduction about what the paper will argue are revisited in the summative conclusion (preferably with some brief reference to the main points made in the body of the paper).

h. Revise the rest of paper to ensure this conforms to the standard formatting of Journal of Ethnic and Cultural Studies authors' guideline and – refer to the 7th edition of the APA Publication Manual in this regard. Tables are not formatted in APA style. Needs be formatted in APA 7th version.

k. And look over references to see all in present in the text and vice versa.

l. I am afraid there are some grammatical and English errors in this paper which make it quite hard to read in places and this is sufficient to make it un-publishable in its present form. The article itself is interesting but it is a difficult read given the issues above. I suggest authors always have their work edited by a professional English editor before submissions. Find someone who is a native speaker of English to proofread your paper.

Overall, I feel confident that if you carefully address the reviewers' and our concerns, your manuscript will make a valuable contribution to scholarship and teaching in the field of ethnic and cultural studies.

Kepada: Dr I Nyoman Yoga Segara <yogasegara74@gmail.com>

Dear Authors,

Please find attached the manuscript for proof of your paper, which is to be published in the Journal of Ethnic and Cultural Studies (JECS) in August 2021. Please return the checked galley proofs via e-mail (info@ejecs.org) or via online submission system within 48 hours of receipt. Late return of galley proofs may mean postponement to a later issue. This step is entirely the responsibility of the corresponding author. Proofreading is your responsibility, and although the Editor may also make corrections, JECS editorial office will not be able to proofread the paper after it has been returned, and will not assume responsibility for any errors that you have failed to correct in the proofs.

Please also follow these guidelines when reviewing the galley proofs and highlight the changes on the manuscript:

- Please add or check all author(s) names and affiliations.
- Please use the proofs solely for checking the accuracy of the typesetting as well as the completeness and correctness of the text, tables, and figures
- Mark your corrections, in red ink, directly on the galley proofs. Make sure that your corrections are noticeable and easy to understand.
- Check all type on the galley proofs. Check the title, the abbreviations list, and the author–paper documentation paragraph.
- Check the table data against that in your original tables.
- Check any equations against those in your original manuscript. Make sure special characters have not dropped out.
- Check to be sure that figures are entirely legible, including any small-print text.

- If you find an error, look again at the lines around the error. Mistakes tend to cluster.
- Please check all references in both text and references list with APA 7th format.
- Pay close attention to deadlines; late submissions can delay publishing.

Note: If you are completely SATISFIED with the final proof, just inform the Editorial Office about your satisfaction via e-mail or via the online submission system. Only on the receipt of your final satisfaction opinion, The Editorial Office will send your article for final publication.

With kind regards,

JECS Editorial Office
